Bottle of gasoline found in his possession

A Loudon man allegedly went on a rampage when he took a bottle of gas he'd threatened to use on a public housing building and forced his way into an apartment where he beat mother of his child and grabbed one of her friends by the neck, before he grabbed an infant out of the mother's arms and left the scene. According to warrants filed by Detective Jack Fine, LCPD; on the 24th day of October 2011 at approximately 9:40pm Matthew Brock Underwood went to the victim's apartment and the classified as umbrella rigs for fishing. TWRA is taking this proactive step in the best interest of the entire fishing community.

Umbrella rigs can be legally fished in Tennessee waters as long as they comply with the regulation as described in the proclamation. An umbrella rig is defined as an array of more than three artificial lures or baits (with or without hooks) used by a single rod and reel combination. Each blade of a spinner bait would be considered a lure. If the hook sizes are 8 or smaller, all lures or baits may have hooks (single, double, or treble). If any hooks on the umbrella rig are hook size 6 or larger, then only one lure or bait in the array may have a hook and that hook must be a single hook.

The Alabama Rig can legally be fished in Tennessee waters following the restrictions set forth for umbrella rigs. If an angler reduces the number of baits attached to the Alabama Rig to three or less it would not meet the definition of an umbrella rig and could be fished with any size or style of hook.

"We didn't just make this regulation up to ban the Alabama Rig in Tennessee. It's been on the books for almost 10 years" says TWRA Chief of Fisheries Bobby Wilson. "In effect since 2002, it was established over concerns about catching too many fish at the same time and foul hooking large sport fish, primarily striped bass and hybrid striped bass."

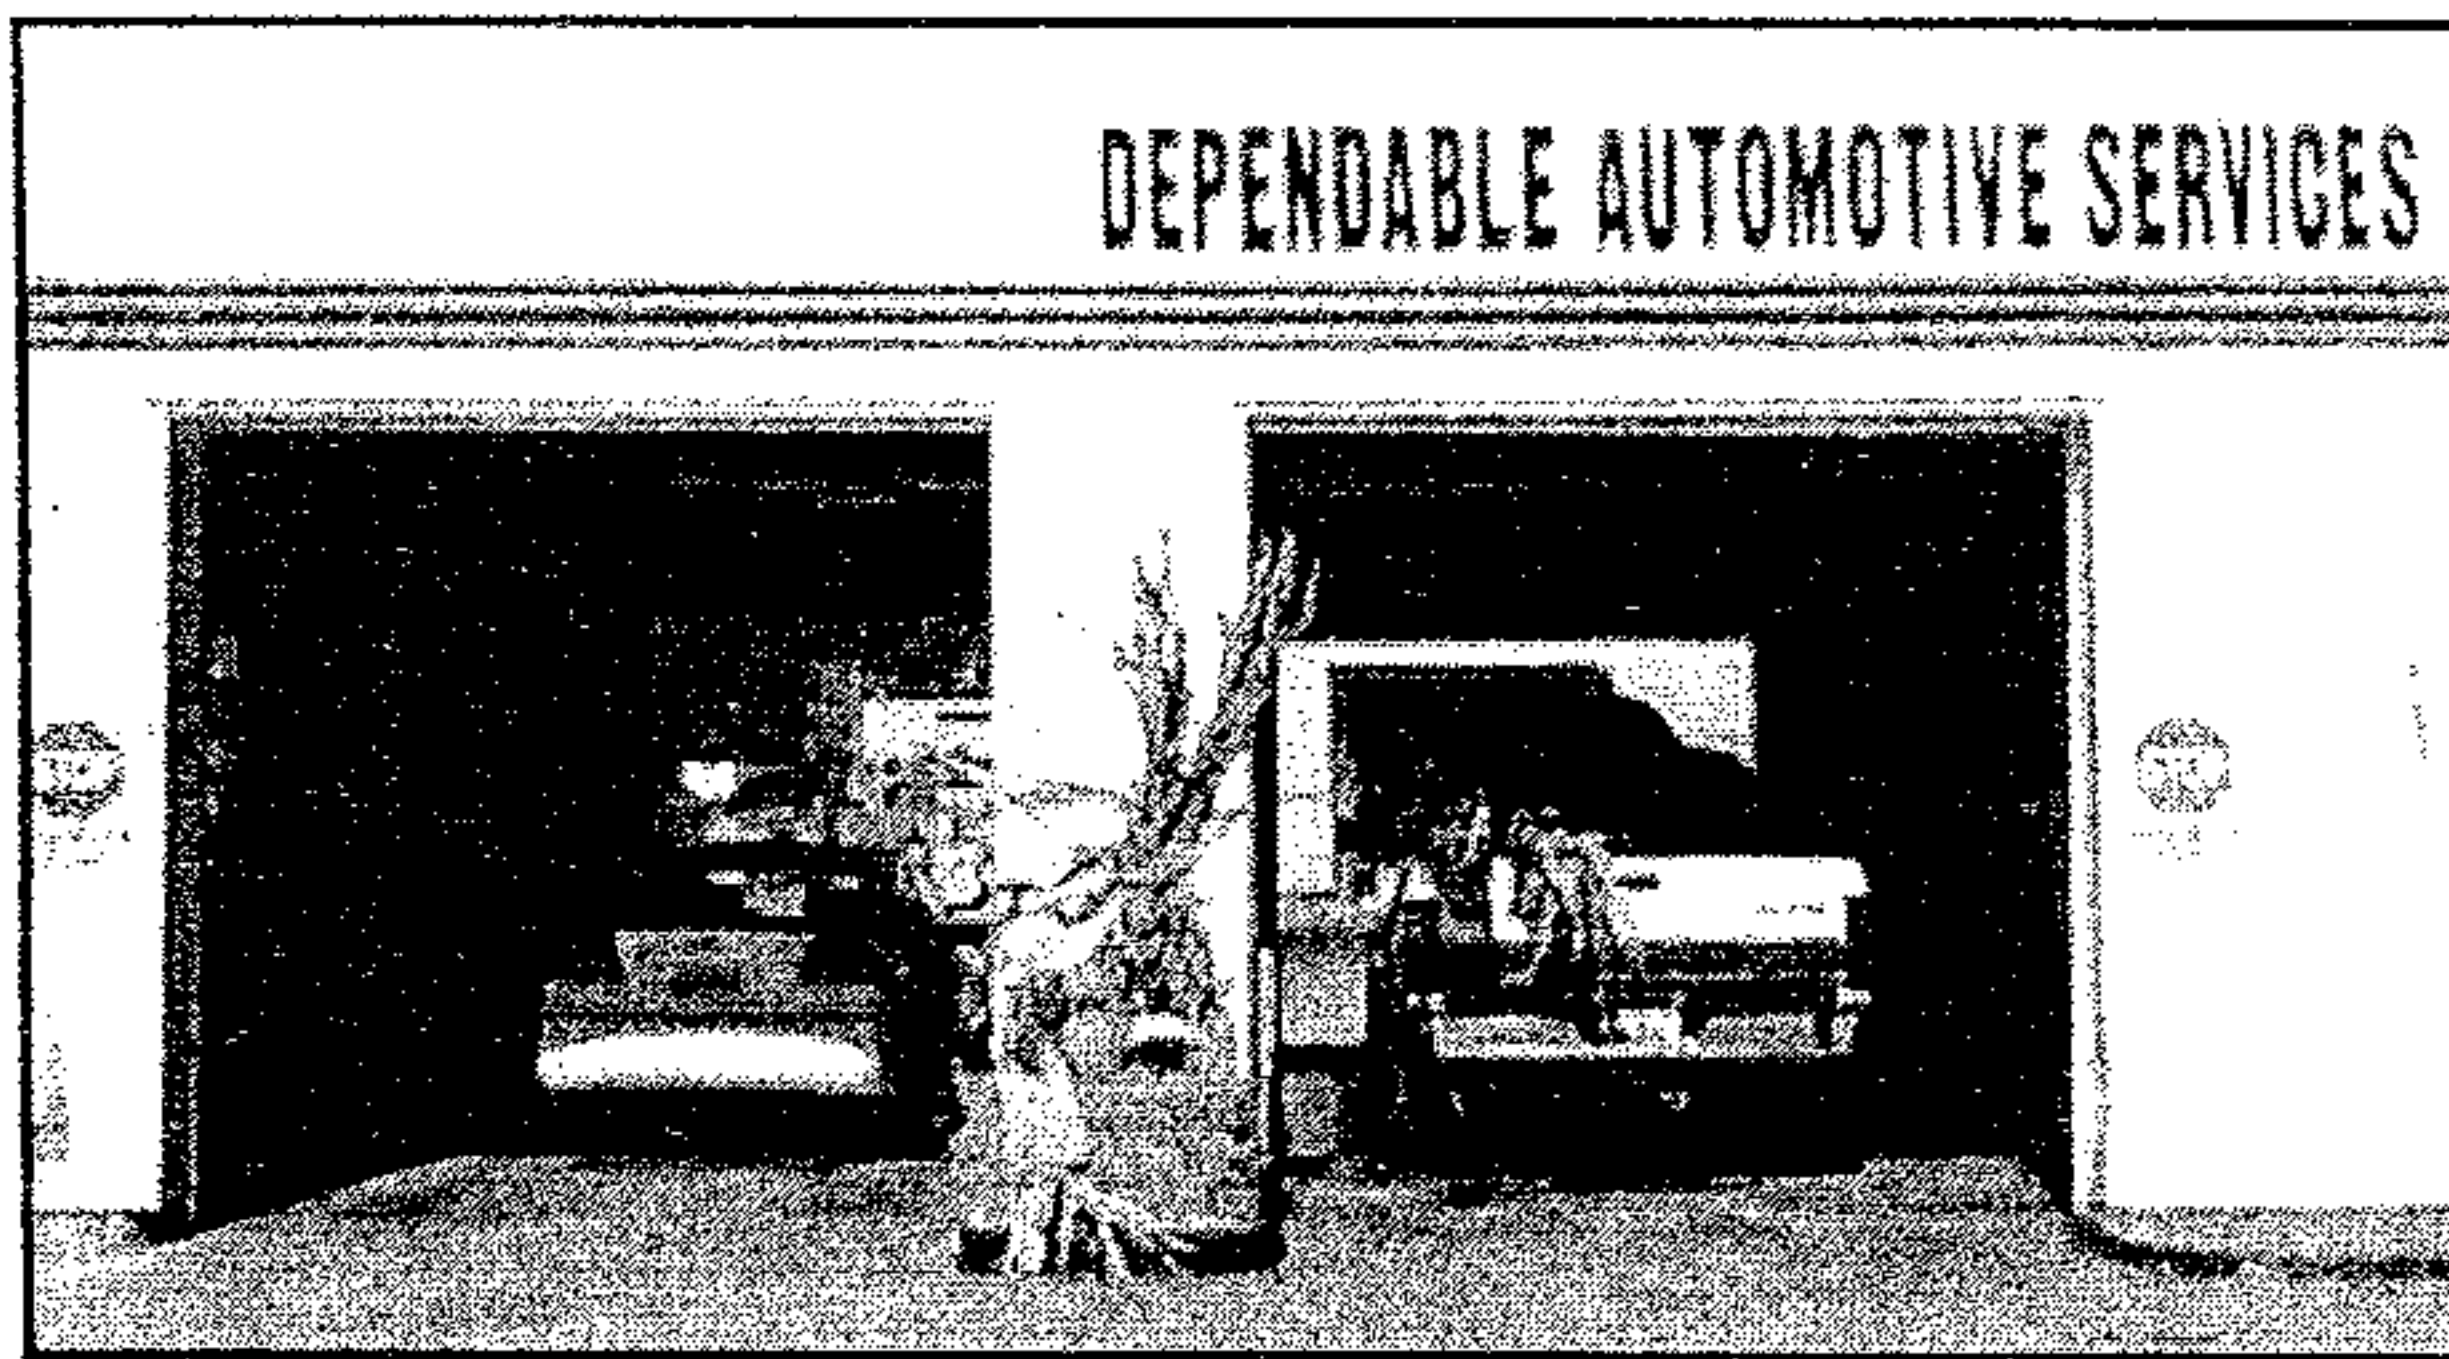

One of the primary goals of the TWRA is to protect Tennessee's resources on behalf of all its residents and non-residents alike. While protecting resources is TWRA's number one responsibility, in doing so it also wants to promote tourism plus enhance business initiatives. Having clear, well-defined regulations help create such an environment. The Agency, in conjunction with local governments, welcomes individual fishermen as well as national, regional and local fishing organizations, regardless of angling species preference to enjoy fishing on Tennessee's waters.

The Good News

person might see the need for Jesus in their lives, and that Christians in our community will see the need to take our walk with Jesus more seriously.

I was recently told that over 6000 people each week read this article. This was even before beginning in Roane County and not including those who check out the website each week. It may be true that over ten thousand (10,000) folks each week can see how Jesus still loves me and has a plan for Angie and I. Isn't it awesome how God works!

Last week I was asked to give my testimony at our church on Sunday night. (Angie gave hers two weeks ago) We probably average fifty to seventy five members on Sunday night so that should be nothing to a guy who shares weekly with ten thousand, right? WRONG!

I was nervous! I was a little scared and I'm not ashamed to admit it. After I had finished I felt great and blessed by God just to have a testimony of faith.

Have you ever given your testimony? Is the sharing of our faith only for preachers, teachers and evangelists? Let's see what God's Word says about it and then I will offer you a challenge.

Mathew 28: 18-20 (NKJV)

And Jesus came and spoke to them, saying, "All authority has been given to Me in heaven and on earth. Go therefore and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all things that I have commanded you: and lo, I am with you always, even to the end of the age." Amen.

Acts 1:8 (NKJV)

"but you shall receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you: and you shall be witnesses to Me in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and in Samaria, and to the end of the earth"

To win lost souls to Jesus we must each be witnesses for Christ. We should be proud to acknowledge the Savior of the universe forgave our wickedness and granted us eternal life with Him in heaven. Isn't the soul of your lost family member or friend worth it? If we won't share our faith and tell them about Jesus, who will?

Here's the challenge; I am asking you to take just a few moments out of one day and write to me. Share with me When, Where and How God saved you, or how God has touched your life in some way. Everybody has access to email and most of us have it on our phone. You don't even have to sign your name! I won't print or share it. I will only read it and know that you are willing to share your faith with another Christian. How hard can that be? My prayer is that you will see how simple it can be and maybe choose to start sharing with others as well. When we share our testimony with someone it just reminds us of how much God really loves us and how much we need Him.

In return, my offer is this; I am willing to give my testimony in person, anywhere! I will share with you in person at your home, I will share with your church or standing in the parking lot of Wal-Mart!

Now if I just offered to speak personally to ten thousand people including their whole church, then apparently God has shown me that we are to share the gospel of Jesus to anyone who will listen. It truly is that important!

O.K., who is willing to share Their Good News? Out of 10,000 possible readers, how many will be willing to accept this challenge? Will anyone take the time? Is everyone too busy? Does everyone share Jesus so much already that they don't need to play silly games with The Good News guy?

What do you have to lose? I gave my word that your testimonies will remain only with Angie and me. I WILL, however, share the total number of responses to this challenge. How sad will it be if I have no "takers" to an easy request as this? Would it mean that people just don't care?

I love Jesus and I'm proud of what He is doing in my life. I don't want to be ashamed or embarrassed to tell others that Jesus saved me, forgave me, and wants to use me for His Glory.

If you are not willing to privately share with an outspoken Christian as I, then sadly you will probably never share with a lost soul either. I have lost friends that need Jesus, don't you?

Send what God has done for you to jeffvittatoc@yahoo.com or visit us at www.thegoodnews-dailyedition.com. Please remember that I am nothing. I'm just glad that Jesus loved me so much He gave His life for my sins. All Honor and Glory belongs to Jesus! He is worthy to be praised! Thanks for reading.
