The Good News

by Jeff Vittatoo

I am writing tonight from the top of Adkins Mountain, part of the North Cumberland Wildlife Management Area in Scott County, Tn. I am here for a few days with a lifelong friend in search of that monster buck that every hunter dreams about. It's muzzle loader season and the weather is perfect. As I type these words on an iPad (which really should be prohibited in deer camp) I can see an almost perfectly full moon, a gazillion stars, and I can feel the heat from an amazing campfire that begs me just to sit and stare at it. In just a few hours I will become part of the landscape of trees for the entire day with nothing to see, hear or smell except God's beautiful nature and what wildlife that He allows to pass my way. There are no distractions and no one but God to talk to when you're hanging in a tree stand about thirty feet above the ground for eight hours. I may not see a deer all week - and that would be ok too.

I know that not everyone

Internet Crime Complaint Center's (IC3) Scam Alerts Government Officials' Identities Being Used On Social Networking Sites

The IC3 has seen an increase of the use of names and photos of U.S. government officials by fraudsters to set-up fraudulent social networking profiles. The scam entails the fraudster creating an account by using the government official's name and a copy of the official's portrait image available online. The fraudsters then use these accounts to appear reputable and successfully befriend potential victims. Then, the fraudster expresses a romantic interest and begins to ask for money. Often the fraudster implies that they are overseas for important work and that a family member has fallen ill. Sometimes, the victims are encouraged to apply for work-at-home jobs posted online. Victims end up repeatedly wiring funds to the fraudster, believing they are involved in a genuine relationship.

The IC3 has released several Public Service Announcements (PSA) warning consumers that U.S. government officials have been repeated targets of spam and identity theft. To address the volume of these particular scams, which use the FBI and government agencies and officials' names, the IC3 added a link titled "FBI E-mail Scam Alert" to the LooksTooGoodToBeTrue.com home page a few years ago. The link contains several IC3 PSA's addressing these particular scams.

hunts and that some folks don't like for others to hunt; this is not an article about camping or hunting, it's about the importance of finding some time to be alone and reflect on where you are, what direction your life is heading and allowing God to search your soul and speak to you. For me this week it just happens to be from my tree stand.

Are you ever alone? Do you make time to get by yourself and just think about your life? When you're driving back and forth to work or school, do you ever just turn off the radio and have silence? Are you one of those who talk on the phone or text during every free second of your life?

Today's point is simple; if we don't slow down and allow God to speak to our hearts, then the only path we will pursue will be that of our own and not God's divine plan for our lives.

God doesn't text and He sure doesn't Face Book. His "tweets" can be found, however, under "HOLY BIBLE." He will speak to us if we will just stop and acknowledge that He is God

Psalm 46:10 - Be still, and know that I am God: I will be exalted among the nations; I will be exalted in the earth.

Jesus was surrounded by hundreds and sometimes thousands of people following Him from place to place. I'm sure that His daily stress was much more than the things we whine about and although Jesus was always busy, He made time to be alone with God Almighty.

MARK 1:35 (NKJ)
Now in the morning, having risen a long while before daylight, He went out and departed to a solitary place; and there He prayed.

LUKE 5:15-16 (NKJ)
(15) Then the report went around concerning Him all the more; and great multitudes came together to hear, and to be healed by Him of their infirmities.

(16) So He Himself often withdrew into the wilderness and prayed.

MATTHEW 14:23 (NKJ)

And when He had sent the multitudes away, He went up on a mountain by Himself to pray. And when evening had come, He was alone there.

Is your life turning out to be all that you had hoped and planned? Is your life completely upside down and miserable? What about just somewhere in between?

Jesus IS the answer! If you are a Christian with struggles or someone who has never accepted Christ, Jesus can fill that emptiness and give you joy that cannot be described.

Why don't you set aside a few hours to "Be Still" and know that God is in control. He wants to be involved in every aspect of your life and He wants you to trust Him completely.

Seek Him and He will reveal Himself to you. You don't have to climb a tree or a mountain to hear God's voice, all you have to do is listen!

Isaiah 65:24 - And it shall come to pass, that before they call, I will answer; and while they are yet speaking, I will hear.

Our lives are short and filled with decisions. If we make them without God they are doomed to fail but God is waiting for us to call on Him.

We cannot receive God's guidance if we do not seek it. We can't seek it if we don't spend time alone with Him in prayer and fellowship. I'm talking about more than a "God is good, God is great" type prayer. I'm talking about spending some uninterrupted real time on our knees, praying to the creator of the universe for mercy and guidance, allowing God to speak to our hearts.

What a difference it makes in your life. What a difference it is making in mine and Angie's life. Thank you Jesus for doing everything You said you would!

May God bless you and your family as He has mine. Visit us at www.thegoodnews-dailyedition.com
