Theft & Forgery

2011, Brian C. Pryor took a book of checks on a woman's account at Sun Trust Bank without her knowledge or consent. The replacement cost was approximately $15.

On August 22, 2011, Pryor passed one of the woman's checks at the Marathon station on Highway 11 in Loudon for $10. On August 25, 2011 Pryor passed another check for $12.98 at the Marathon and then, on August 28, 2011 Pryor passed yet another check belonging to the woman at Mr. Gas #4 on Highway 11 in Loudon for $9.20.

his cup holder and two beers in his pockets. He received his second DUI at the scene.

Alfonso Ramirez Cardenas, 30, Filmore Avenue, Knoxville was charged with DUI 2nd offense and revoked license.

According to records, Saturday, around 10:02 PM, Deputy James Stegall, LCSO responded to a single vehicle accident on Highway 95 and Brooks Road and found the driver of a white Mazda 626, Alfonso R. Cardenas, had a strong odor of beer on his breath.

While Mr. Cardenas was looking for his paperwork, the deputy noticed several empty beer cans in the vehicle and a half empty Miller Light in the cup holder. Due to a language problem, Deputy Stegall placed Cardenas into custody and as he was searching him, found a full Miller Light in each pocket.

A check of Cardenas's name and date of birth revealed his license were revoked for DUI.

Stolen

Charles D. Eldridge,

Old Sugarlimb Road, Lenoir City reported the theft of his handgun to Deputy Charles Butler, LCSO Wednesday. Eldridge stated he left his residence around 3:00 PM, and when he returned home a short time later around 4:45 PM, he noticed all his bedroom drawers had been opened and gone through.

Eldridge said a night stand drawer was open and a pillow case was missing from the bed. Mr. Eldridge then discovered his pistol was missing.

The pistol was described as a blue .22 caliber Smith & Wesson revolver with an estimated value of $500. The theft is under investigation.

Police Beat

Pricilla Pamela White, 27, Crisp Road, Lenoir City was charged Friday, with driving on suspended license and simple possession of schedule IV.

The report states, after running her tag, Detective Jonathan Sartin, LCPD stopped Ms. White's GMC Jimmy on Old 95 at Ashe Avenue because the tag belonged on a Chrysler.

When asked for her license, White stated she didn't have any.

A check through NCIC confirmed Ms. White's license was suspended.

Detective Sartin also found xanax in the floorboard near White's feet.

most significant cases the Bureau investigated with the help of our domestic and international law enforcement and intelligence community partners.

Part 1 focuses on our top investigative priority: protecting the nation from terrorist attack. The death of Osama bin Laden in May was a milestone, but al Qaeda remains committed to high-profile attacks against the U.S. And on the home front, lone offenders radicalized on the Internet continue to pose a serious threat to national security.

Here are some of the top terror cases of 2011, in reverse chronological order:

Murder of U.S. soldiers in Iraq:

A 38-year-old Canadian citizen was indicted this month by a New York grand jury for his role in the murder of five American soldiers in a suicide-bomb attack in Iraq in 2009. The individual was arrested last January in Canada, and the U.S. is seeking his extradition.

Senior citizens indicted in ricin plot:

Four Georgia men in their 60s and 70s were arrested last month for planning to manufacture the biological toxin ricin and purchasing explosives for use in attacks against American citizens. The defendants are alleged to be part of a fringe militia group.

Plot against Saudi ambassador:

Two individuals were charged in October for their participation in a plot directed by elements of the Iranian government to murder the Saudi ambassador to the U.S.

with explosives while the ambassador was on U.S. soil. One of the individuals is in custody; the other is still at large.
Attack planned on U.S.

Capitol:

A 26-year-old Massachusetts man was arrested in September and charged with plotting to bomb the Pentagon and U.S. Capitol using remote-controlled aircraft filled with explosives.

Material support to terrorists:

An Albanian citizen living in New York was charged in September with providing material support to terrorists for planning travel to Pakistan to join a radical jihadist fighting group. He was arrested while trying to catch a flight out of the country.

Texas bomb plot:

A 21-year-old soldier who was absent without leave was charged in July with planning to detonate a bomb inside a restaurant frequented by soldiers from Fort Hood. When he was arrested, the individual was in possession of a variety of bomb-making components. In November he was charged with additional crimes including attempted murder.

Plot to attack Seattle military installation:

Two men were indicted in July for conspiring to use a weapon of mass destruction to attack a military installation in Seattle with the intention of killing U.S. citizens. Law enforcement first became aware of the plot when an individual alerted them that he had been approached about participating in the attack.

Conduit to terror organizations:

A Somali national in his mid-20s was indicted in July for providing material support to foreign terror organizations al Shabaab and al Qaeda in the Arabian Peninsula (AQAP). He was captured in the Gulf region by the U.S. military in April 2011 and was allegedly a conduit between al Shabaab and AQAP.

Iraq bomb attacks:

An Iraqi citizen who allegedly carried out numerous improvised explosive device (IED) attacks against U.S. troops in Iraq and another Iraqi national alleged to have participated in the Iraq insurgency were indicted in May on terrorism charges in Kentucky, where both were residents.

Jihadist indicted:

A 20-year-old Saudi Arabia citizen and Texas resident was arrested in February and charged with attempted use of a weapon of mass destruction in connection with the purchase of chemicals and equipment used to make an IED and his research of potential U.S. targets. The individual came to the U.S. in 2008 on a student visa.

implied consent, and introduction of contraband into a penal facility.

According to records, Officer B. Brown, LCPD was dispatched to a possible hit and run Thursday, on North C Street and when he arrived on the scene he discovered Cindy E. Cook hadn't left the location yet.

Ms. Cook had hit a parked car and was found at fault in the accident. While the officer was talking with Cook, he observed she had slurred speech, delayed motor skills and was falling asleep. Ms. Cook performed poorly on field sobriety tasks and refused implied consent. Cook was transported to the Loudon County Jail where a search performed by Corporal Angi Martin, LCSO produced two round green pills marked A and 214 which were identified as 15 mg. roxycodone. The corporal had asked Ms. Cook if she had any contraband on her prior to the search and she said no.

Police Beat

Ronnie Alan Odell, 41, Highway 70 West, Lenoir City was charged with violation of probation and failure to appear.

Deputy Bruce Padgett, LCSO made the arrest Tuesday at the Monroe County Jail.

day, at approximately 8:17 PM, Deputy Craig Brewer, LCSO responded to the Justice Center on a report of a domestic disturbance. On arrival, the deputy met with a woman who stated that on Tuesday, she and her Phelps were in an argument and he took a gun from top dresser drawer, pointed it at her and stated he had no problem taking her life.

Then on Thursday, Phelps took a knife and was sharpening it and told the woman he was sharpening it so it would be sharp enough to cut her throat. He then took a sheet and cut it up in front of her.

The woman went to the Justice Center on Friday to report Phelps' actions and advised it was the first chance she had to get away when he was not with her.

Police Beat

Kurt Maxwell Pur-

vis, 20, Werngl Drive, Knoxville was charged with underage driving while impaired.

According to reports, Thursday, at approximately 7:12 AM, Officer Dennis Guider, LCPD was dispatched to Interstate 75, north of the 81 entrance ramp, concerning a disabled vehicle in the slow lane.

While en route the officer was advised by dispatch the call had been upgraded to a wreck with injuries.

On arrival, Officer Guider discovered there were four vehicles involved in the wreck. One of the vehicles involved, a silver Acura TSX, was driven by Kurt Purvis.

Purvis was still sitting in the car and had a strong odor of an alcoholic beverage about him and slurred speech.

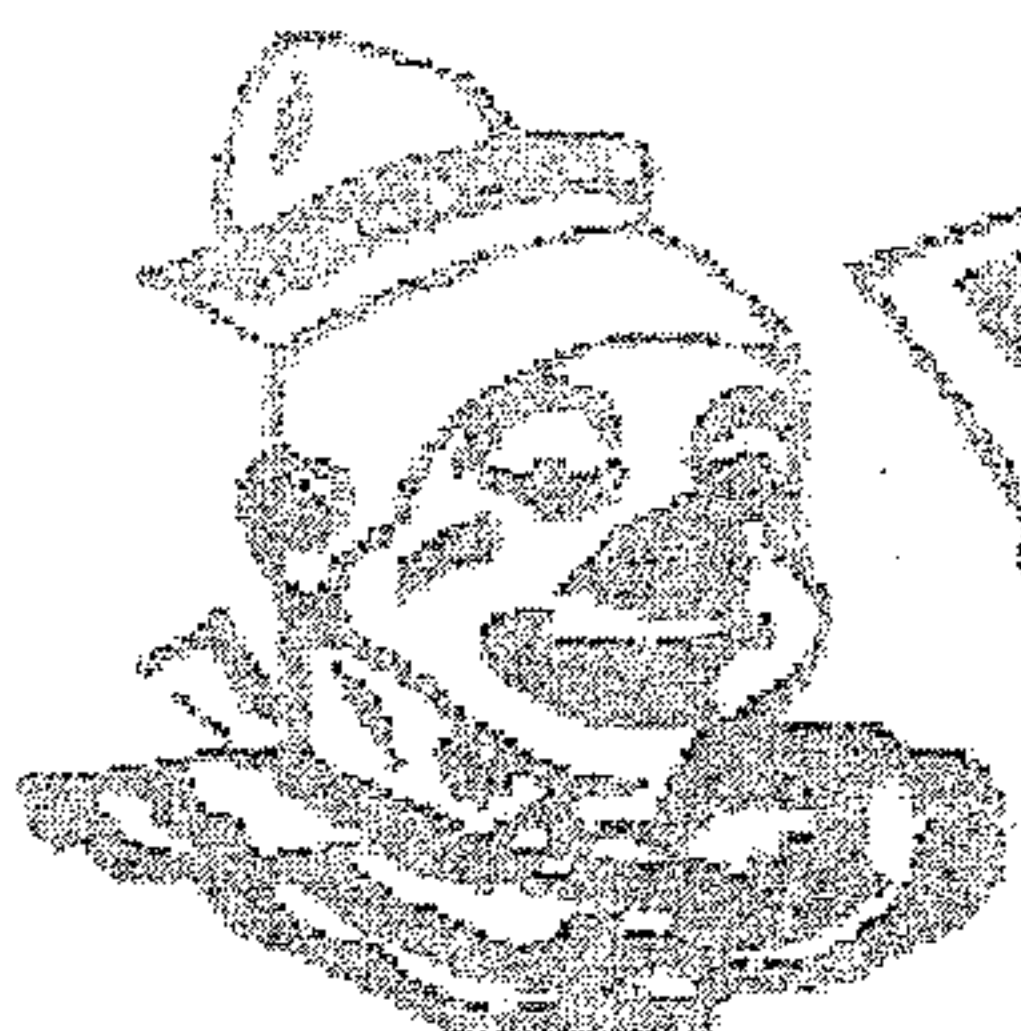

Mr. Purvis stated he was on his way home from a party in Chattanooga when he ran out of gas on the interstate. He performed poorly on field sobriety tasks and was placed under arrest, but before going to jail, he was transported to Fort Loudoun ER for a BAC test, which he submitted to.

Elvin Rolando Canocifuentes, 25, G Street, Lenoir City was charged with failure to appear on prior DUI and sexual battery charges brought on August 22nd, 2007.

Deputy Nathan Wilson, LCSO made the arrest Saturday at the McMinn County Jail.
