Bubba-Fest

Sponsored by the Christian Outdoorsman Ministry Team of Crossville, "Bubba Fest" features a special guest speaker, BBQ dinner, outdoor vendors, displays, whitetail deer seminars, "Redneck Olympics", and live blue grass music.

TWRA will provide its wildlife and boating educational display trailer and a laser-shot game for the kids.

The year's guest speaker is David Hale, one half of the Knight and Hale team that became a house hold name in the hunting industry.

David Hale and Harold Knight started a game call business in 1971 making turkey calls and waterfowl calls. As the restoration progress for turkey and deer took off, so did their business. Growing with the species the duo developed new calls and strategies that were used successfully in the field. Through the writing of hundreds of magazine and newspaper articles, television shows, personal appearances and now videos, the name Knight and Hale are synonymous with the calling of all species into gun or bow range.

David came from a Christian family and going to church was natural from childhood. He has been an adult Sunday school teacher and lay speaker for 44 years. David's latest ministry has led him into guest speaking at men's outreach wild game suppers across the states. His knowledge and reputation in the outdoors makes him a natural for mixing his faith in Jesus Christ with God's creation and hunters and fisherman. David believes this type of ministry will reach people for Christ where no other Christian outreach can.

A number of door prizes will be awarded immediately following David Hale's presentation and include a $1,000 cash prize, guns, and many others. Participants must be present to win.

World Class and local trophy bucks will be on display, and visitors to the event can enjoy games and fun for the kids, and may meet the "Wounded Warriors" from Fort Campbell, Ky.

Unemployment

June revised rate of 9.2 percent.

"The statistics behind the unchanged unemployment rate show a slight drop in employment numbers along with an overall decline in the labor force," Commissioner Davis said.

According to the household survey, the number of employed Tennesseans decreased by 12,200 from June to July 2011. The civilian labor force decreased by 15,100 which is attributed to discouraged workers no longer looking for jobs.

Labor also conducts a monthly survey of 10,000 businesses in Tennessee which is factored into the state's unemployment rate. "The business survey does reveal some positive indicators with a private employment growth rate of 1.3 percent over the year," added Davis. "Construction and durable goods manufacturing are both showing strong short and long term growth which is better than we've seen during the past few years."

Month-to-month increases occurred in mining, logging, and construction, up 1,900 jobs; local government educational services was up 1,400; hospitals was up by 900 jobs; and durable goods manufacturing increased by 900. Food services and drinking places decreased by 1,600; and state government declined by 1,600.

Year-over-year increases took place in professional and business services, up 8,700 jobs; food services and drinking places, up 5,800; and educational and health services increased by 4,700.

Employment decreases took place in government, down 9,000 (4,700 of which were Federal, due to the 2010 Census jobs); retail trade, down 3,800; and social assistance, down 1,900.
