BEING DIFFERENT

I am writing today from Gatlinburg TN. I am here all week for annual narcotics officer training in which "narcs" from all over TN, and a few from other states, meet to obtain the necessary hours of organized instruction required to maintain law enforcement certification. In addition to fullfilling Peace Officer Standards Training (P.O.S.T.) requirements, it is also a time that narcotics officers discuss the current drug trends across the state, compare investigative strategies and equipment, recognize successful prosecutions and drug seizures within the state and consider officer safety issues facing today's agents in a world giving. The 2012 season opens Nov. 17.

For the second year, sportsmen will find one continuous season that will continue through Jan. 6, 2013. The continuous season replaced the previously two segmented hunting seasons that were in place prior to last year.

The Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency divides the state into three deer hunting units, A, B and & L. Hunters may harvest one antlered buck per day until the statewide bag limit of three is reached, including those deer harvested during archery and muzzleloader seasons. An antlered buck is a buck with an antler at least three inches long.

For antlerless deer hunting in Units A and B during this season, refer to the list of hunts on page 26 of TWRA's 2012 Tennessee Hunting and Trapping Guide. All hunts listed are now non-quota. Each county listed on page 26 has its own bag limit. A hunter may harvest the bag limit of antlerless deer in any open Unit A or B county and then go to any other counties listed and take the antlerless bag limit there, also. The bag limit for antlerless deer in Unit L is three per day.

A Type 94 permit is required to harvest antlerless deer during this season on all non-quota hunts in Units A, B, & L, except for holders of an Annual Sportsman, Lifetime Sportsman, or Senior Citizen License Type 167 Permit.

TWRA personnel will be collecting data at selected check-in stations across the state on Saturday. Antlered bucks will be measured and aged for management purposes.

The second Young Sportsman Hunt will be held the weekend of Jan. 12-13, 2013.

Anyone born on or after January 1, 1969 is required to carry proof of satisfactory completion of a hunter education class or be in possession of the Apprentice Hunting License (along with other required licenses) while hunting any species in Tennessee.

For more information about Tennessee's 2012-13 deer hunting seasons, refer to the 2012 Tennessee Hunting and Trapping Guide available at all license agents, TWRA regional offices in Jackson, Nashville, Crossville, and Morristown or on the TWRA website at www.tnwildlife.org.

The Good News

where violence towards law enforcement is increasing and respect for law and order is rapidly decreasing.

While the life of a drug agent may appear to be filled with the excitement of undercover stings, tactical entries and covert methods, it is also a life that consists of many unknown dangers and requires a massive amount of time away from family. Most of these guys work a schedule in which all personal plans are continuously subject to change with each incoming phone call. Not so much because they want to work all the time, but there is a commitment to their team members that requires availability for protection and success.

Most businessmen have the ability to schedule meetings and arrange deals during the day in comfortable public settings.... Not so in the world of narcotics investigations. I have tremendous respect for the guys and gals that I work with in East TN and across the state at all levels of government but I am spiritually convicted of a common need that exists between these brave men and women, and the criminals they pursue..... We all need Jesus!

Last night I went to dinner with several agents from various departments and found myself reflecting on the guy I was two years ago. I sat quietly as I heard stories about the previous night's "excursions" and plans for later in the evening. I was reminded of my actions in years past at this and other conferences. In my mind, I compared how I was then to the person that Christ is molding me into now. Did I miss those days? Did I want to have a cold beer and take a trip down memory lane? NOT A CHANCE!

Instead, I pondered how I could plant the seed of hope in the mind of at least one person this week. I felt so blessed that Jesus had delivered me from alcohol, hatefulness, bitterness, adultery, fornication, lying, cheating, headaches, paranoia and all the stresses and misery associated with each.

I realized that the ground in which I hope to sow is very rocky and will not easily accept the seed, but so it was in the beginning and so it is with you in your workplace I'm sure! I was reminded that I was not called to aggressively convince anybody of their need for the Savior; my responsibility is to "be Holy, even as He is Holy"!! (1 Peter 1:16) My responsibility as a Christian-is to love others as Jesus loved me and share the gospel when and how the Holy Spirit leads me. (Mark 12:30-31) (Luke 21:15)

For the rest of the evening I kept thinking about the people I work with each day. Do they see Jesus in my life? Do my words and my actions more closely resemble a life being lived for Jesus or a life that looks like the world? Am I doing enough to lift up the name of Jesus so that He may be glorified through my life? The answers to these questions will be made clear to me when I must stand before God and give an account of my deeds, my words and my thoughts. I am truly trying to love The Lord Jesus with all of my heart, all of my soul, all of my mind and all of my strength. I am not even close to being found worthy, but I am trying every day to follow Jesus.

What about you? What about your life? If you have accepted Jesus into your heart, what does your life more closely resemble? Do your coworkers know that you are a Christian without being told? Do you work with anyone that you suspect to be lost? If so, can they see that your life is full of faith, hope and joy? If God has placed you in their path to share the gospel, have you answered that call?

Or is your life like mine used to be.... so full of sin that there is no evidence of Jesus in your actions, your words or your thoughts? If you are not bearing any fruit of the spirit does that mean you have turned from God and chosen sin that you should repent of, or does it mean that you have never truly accepted Jesus after all? (Please read Mathew 7:21-23)

God has a plan that includes each of His children. When we accept Christ, we are expected to be DIFFERENT than the world. We are expected to let our light shine before men (our coworkers, our family and our friends) so that others may come to know Jesus. We must stop living as the world lives and we should live according to God's plan. If you don't allow God to speak to you through His word, through prayer and by listening to the Holy Spirit, then your life will not show the love of God and the need for Jesus. It's that simple!

I work with lost people that I, nor God, want to see spend eternity in hell. I am choosing to take responsibility for the example I set before these folks. I am choosing to be DIFFERENT, to live like Jesus matters! Will you join me as Christians? Please! You most likely will not have the chance to witness to an undercover narcotics investigator in your lifetime as I do, and I may never get the chance to witness to the person who works beside you on Monday morning either. God's plan is for both of us to be DIFFERENT where He has placed us. Lets do it God's way for a change.

And by the way, if you do not know Jesus as your personal Savior, I beg you to consider the gift of eternal life that is offered to those who believe upon Him. I would like nothing more than to share with you what Christ has done in my life. I can be reached at jeffvittatoe@yahoo.com or at www.the-goodnews-dailyedition.com. Thanks for reading.
