Out of Sight- Out of Mind

We've all heard the expression before and many times we adhere to the concept even when we don't realize it. It seems we somehow allow our lives to get so busy that we only pay attention to the things that directly effect us.

My Mamaw Vittatoo,

one of the most Godly influences of my life is now living at the Baptist Health Care Center and I am ashamed to say that I have only been to see her one time for a brief moment in several months.

The Impact of Unsafe Injection Practices in U.S. Healthcare Settings

Although safe injection practices are basic infection control meaasures, they are not always followed.

More than 150,000

patients have been impacted by unsafe injection practices since 2001. Breakdowns in proper infection control often involve providers reusing needles, syringes or single-dose medication vials, all of

Wazzup

We're praying and pulling for you Delmar; hope your recovery is swift and as painless as humanly possible.

Sorry for being so ditzzy at the Pilot, Captain Applejack; was one of those girl things! And, again, thank you...

A full grown doe crossed two busy lanes of traffic on I-75 Thursday morning and made it. Everybody got lucky. Please keep your eyes peeled for deer on the side of the road; hitting one can cause thousands of dollars in damages, injuries, and even death. (And remember, where there is one deer, there is usually more...)

prison. The lawman confirmed the accused subject was not to be released until 2018 and has not been making calls. Neese and Hornbeak were advised on November 22, 2012 the individual was not able to get out of prison until 2018.

According to 911, deputies have responded to the same residence 4 times in the last 2 days. Both subjects were found to be intoxicated and were taken into custody.

Eddie Olen Neese, 41 and Walter Berry Hornbeak, 72, both of Price Road, were charged with 911 calls in a non-emergency situation. Deputy Billy Lewis, LCSO made the arrests.

which are meant for one patient and one procedure. These breaches can cause irreparable damage exposing patients to bloodborne illnesses, such as hepatitis and HIV, and to life-threatening bacterial infections. Although safe injection practices represent very basic infection control measures, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) routinely identifies and investigates outbreaks associated with deficient practices.

•Since 2001, at least 48 outbreaks have occurred that CDC is aware of: 21 of these outbreaks involved transmission of hepatitis B or hepatitis C, and the other 27 represented outbreaks of bacterial infections, most of which involved invasive bloodstream infections. All these outbreaks were not from intrinsically contaminated products received from a pharmacy or drug company.

•CDC released a table of select recent outbreaks and patient notification events that occurred in a variety of settings, which included primary care clinics, pediatric offices, ambulatory surgical centers, pain clinics, imaging facilities, oncology clinics, and even health fairs.

•The One & Only Campaign aims to eradicate outbreaks from unsafe medical injections by raising awareness among patients and healthcare providers about proper practices. The campaign is a public health effort produced by the SIPC, a collaboration of several medical societies, state health departments, private medical companies, and patient advocates led by the CDC.

Through targeted education and awareness efforts, the One & Only Campaign empowers patients and healthcare providers to insist on nothing less than safe injections – every time, for every patient. Since 2009, the campaign has developed toolkits and materials for providers and patients, including a clinician toolkit, a checklist, posters, a video, and a continuing education webinar. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and Safe Injection Practices Coalition (SIPC) have also promoted awareness of safe injection practices at a wide variety of national and state meetings, conferences, and training activities.

female near Hwy 321 and Simpson Road. The suspect was identified as Pamela Dugan. The officer detained Dugan and transported her to the market when the officer spoke with the manager. According to the manager and a witness they observed Ms. Dugan concealing items in her purse and then entering the ladies room. The manager was notified and sent two female employees into the restroom to observe Ms. Dugan, however she had locked herself in a stall. When she exited the stall, the female employees found plastic packing, which had been cut from a cell phone case and an Emerson MP3 player. The total value is $16 and her purse appeared to be full.

Ms. Dugan was approached by the manager at the exit of the store and asked her to come into the office but Dugan turned and hastily exited. No property was located in Dugan's purse, however she had significant time on foot after leaving before the officer made contact.

Pamela Ruth Dugan, 37, of Six Mile Road, Maryville, was charged with shoplifting theft under $500.

Officer Emily Lawson, LCPD made the arrest.

Police Beat

Brandon Christopher Jaynes, 18, of Old Lee Hwy, Loudon, was charged with driving on suspended.
