Holiday Shopping Tips

The FBI reminds holiday shoppers to beware of cyber criminals who are out to steal money and personal information. Scammers use many techniques to defraud consumers, from phishing e-mails offering too good to be true deals on brand-name merchandise to offering quick cash to victims who will re-ship packages to additional destinations. Previously reported scams are still being executed today.

While monitoring credit reports on an annual basis and reviewing account statements each month is always a good idea, consumers should keep a particularly watchful eye on their personal credit information at this time of year. Scrutinizing credit card bills for any fraudulent activity can help to minimize victims' losses. Unrecognizable charges listed on a credit card statement are often the first time consumers realize their personally identifiable information has

Verse of the Day

Whatever happens, conduct yourselves in a manner worthy of the gospel of Christ. Then, whether I come and see you or only hear about you in my absence, I will know that you stand firm in one spirit, contending as one man for the faith of the gospel without being frightened in any way by those who oppose you. This is a sign to them that they will be destroyed, but that you will be saved — and that by God. — Philippians 1:27-28 been stolen.

Bank transactions and correspondence from financial institutions should also be closely reviewed. Bank accounts can often serve as a target for criminals to initiate account takeovers or commit identity theft by creating new accounts in the victims' name. Consumers should never click on a link embedded in an e-mail from their bank, but rather open a new webpage and manually enter the URL (web address), because phishing scams often start with phony e-mails that feature the bank's name and logo.

When shopping online, make sure to use reputable sites. Often consumers are shown specials on the web, or even in e-mail offers, that look too good to be true. These sites are used to capture personally identifiable information, including credit card numbers, addresses and phone numbers to make fraudulent transactions. It's best to shop on sites with which you are familiar and that have an established reputation as trusted online retailers, according to the MRC, a non-profit that supports and promotes operational excellence for fraud, payments and risk professionals within eCommerce.

If you look for an item or company name through a search engine site, scrutinize the results listed before going to a website. Do not automatically click on the first result, even if it looks identi-drug paraphernalia, and Tampering with evidence.

According to the report, Cpl. Michael

Watkins LCSO did observe a red vehicle traveling on Martel Rd. with No visible registration. Upon stopping said vehicle the driver produced a Tn. Drivers license that stated she was Freda Faddis. A check through NCIC showed that Mrs. Faddis drivers license was revoked for insurance. The corporal reported Mrs. Faddis was extremely nervous and asked to exit the vehicle. During a weapons pat down the Deputy asked Mrs. Faddis what was that in her right pocket and she reached inside and pulled out a round pill canister and attempted to stuff it back into her pocket. The Deputy then retrieved the canister and inside it was 1 100 mg morphine and 1 30 mg oxycodone. Mrs. Faddis stated she had a prescription for these pills in her purse.

A search of her purse found a syringe and a spoon with white residue and burn marks on the bottom.

Mrs. Faddis was informed she was being placed under arrest Mrs. Faddis had a passenger and called her mother to come pick the passenger up. Deputy Rondel Branum LCSO observed Mrs. Faddis trying to pass her mother something and stopped the female. It was a small jewelry bag with 4 30mg oxycodone's inside.

At this time Mrs. Faddis was advised that if she had anymore drugs on her before we transported her to the jail that we needed to know about them or she would be charged and she stated let her check and reached into her bra and pulled out one pill bottle containing (2) 30mg oxycodone, (3) .5 mg Alprazolam, and (2) 100mg Morphine pills and another syringe.

Corporal Mike Watkins LCSO made the arrest.

...or similar to the desired result. Many fraudsters go to extreme lengths to have their own website appear as if it were a legitimate company on popular search engines. Their website may be a mirrored version of a popular website, but with a slightly different URL.

Purchases made on these sites could result in one or more of the following consequences: never receiving the item, having your credit card details stolen, or downloading malware/computer virus to your computer. Before clicking on a result in a search engine, inspect the URL of the destination website. Look for any misspellings or extra characters such as a period or comma as these are indicative of fraud. When taken to the payment page of a website, again verify the URL and ensure it is secure by starting with "HTTPS," not just "HTTP."

Here are some additional tips you can use to avoid becoming a victim of cyber fraud:

Do not respond to unsolicited (spam) e-mail. Do not click on links contained within an unsolicited e-mail.

Be cautious of e-mail claiming to contain pictures in attached files; the files may contain viruses. Only open attachments from known senders. Scan the attachments for viruses if possible.

Avoid filling out forms contained in e-mail messages that ask for personal information.

Always compare the link in the e-mail to the link you are actually directed to and determine if they match and will lead you to a legitimate site.

Log on directly to the official website for the business identified in the e-mail instead of "linking" to it from an unsolicited e-mail. If the e-mail appears to be from your bank, credit card issuer, or other company you deal with frequently, your statements or official correspondence from the business will provide the proper contact information.

Contact the actual business that supposedly sent the e-mail to verify that the e-mail is genuine.

If you are requested to act quickly or there is an emergency that requires your attention, it may be a scam. Fraudsters create a sense of urgency to get you to act quickly.

Remember if it looks too good to be true, it probably is.
