The Good News

lives, but after years of being "That Guy" I am now experiencing, in real life, what Jesus meant when he said, "I am with you always". (Mathew 28:20)

It was just a few short years ago that I was a Christian with no visible attributes of being a Christian. Although I had accepted Christ many years before, I would snarl my nose at someone talking about the Lord, prayer, church, faith or anything that reminded me of my own sin.

I would often refer to those folks as hypocrites, Jesus freaks or Bible thumpers. Not because I didn't believe in God or my own salvation, but because I had never experienced a life that didn't revolve around ME and what I wanted to do, where I wanted to go, how I spent my time or my money and especially of how others would view me. I just massively missed the boat on a true relationship with Christ for a really long time.

For a little over two years now, Blondie and I have sought God and His will for our lives while accepting the fact that others will criticize us, mock our transparency about our decision to follow Jesus and many of our "friends" would somehow lose our number. There ARE sacrifices that accompany a Christian life that many are not willing to make in our generation causing them to miss out on God's greatest blessings. The Bible says that to follow Jesus we must "Deny ourselves". (Luke 9:23) That whole denying one's self part is where Jesus loses most of us these days.

What most folks don't realize is that when we truly lay our lives down before the Lord and ask him to forgive us, to cleanse us, and to make us "usable" to Him, that's when God begins to take away our desires for things not related to His will.

I use to drink a lot, A LOT! In a single day over two years ago God completely removed any desire that I had to touch any alcohol of any kind! Gone! Just like that. God then began to change my attitude towards others, my language, my thoughts and gave me opportunities to tell other people how He had changed me.

Do I still have ungodly thoughts? I do. Do I ever say a word that God would not approve of? Unfortunately I do. Does God ever place opportunities in front of me that I pretend are not there? I am ashamed to say yes, but that is true. God didn't make me perfect, only He is perfect. God said for me to take up my cross daily and follow Him. I begin each day asking God to forgive me of the sins of yesterday and create within me a new heart for today, and He does!!!

Since returning to Christ, He has provided opportunities for Blondie and I to share our story across our community, across the state, into Montana, Indiana, New York City and even allowed me to stand before a crowd of children in a small village in San Mateo Guatemala and tell them how Jesus loves them and how He wants to know them. How awesome is that!

God has allowed Blondie and I to share our resources with others serving in various places but we have never been short when it's time to pay the mortgage or buy groceries. Instead of planning cruise ship vacations, God has planted a desire for us to spend our vacation days serving with missionaries around the globe and then not wanting to come home! I have one of the best jobs anyone could ever ask for but God is creating a desire in my heart to eventually abandon my own life pursuits to spread the gospel somewhere else. Instead of dreading or worrying about it, I find myself praying that it will happen -sooner than later!

That line of thinking is not normal to most people but here is what most people are forgetting; there is life after death (which could be any moment) and each of us will spend eternity in one of two places. You and I both know that, we may just ignore that truth because we like the way our lives are going without Jesus in it. That is a choice that we each must make, bearing the consequences of those decisions.

However, there are people around the world who cannot make that choice because they don't realize there is a choice to make. Not everyone has heard the name of Jesus! I believe God blesses us so greatly in the United States with the resources to reach the world but many times we leave that task to someone else. We are often consumed with "Me" and leave God at the church house with the "Hypocrites, Jesus Freaks and Bible thumpers!"

Romans 10:14-15 (14) How then will they call on Him in whom they have never believed? And how are they going to believe in Him of whom they have never heard? And how are they to hear without someone preaching? (15) And how are they to preach unless they are sent? As it is written, "How beautiful are the feet of those who preach the good news."

The purpose of today's message is to tell you that Jesus changed my life and I am happier than I ever have been before. He took away the desire for things that cause hurt to myself and others, and gave me hope, love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, self-control and a meaningful purpose in life. God has placed an urgency in my heart to tell others about His "Amazing Grace" and He expects every other Christian to do the same.

If Jesus can change my life so drastically and bless me so much, just imagine what He can do in your life! Trust me, any sacrifice made on God's behalf will be compensated with more happiness than you can even fathom. If reading this article today makes you consider me a hypocrite, a Jesus freak or a Bible thumper, I have a simple reply.... Thank you! You just don't know what you're missing!

Allison

cle the deputy observed the vehicle cross the center divider line, strike a mailbox and drive into the ditch and continue east on Hines Valley Road. Upon stopping, the driver, William Mathew Allison Jr, exited and was very unsteady on his feet and had very slurred speech. Allison was asked if he had been drinking and if he had anything illegal and he stated no. While escorting Mr. Allison to the front of the patrol car, he had his hand in his pants. The deputy told Allison to take his hands out of his pants and he refused. After a brief struggle the deputy restrained Mr. Allison and placed him into handcuffs and found in his pants three pill bottles with several different types inside each bottle. Deputy Smith also discovered in the driver's floorboard one more pill bottle with some round pink tablets inside.

At that time Deputy Smith advised Mr. Allison he was under arrest for DUI and he agreed to a blood sample. Deputy Smith collected for evidence 22 rectangle yellow tables believed to be Xanax, 34 1/2 round pink tablets believed to be dextroamphet, 8 small yellow tablets believed to be maloxicam, 14 tablets believed to be trazadone, and 15 oval tablets believed to be quetiapine fumarate.

William Mathew Allison Jr., 30, of Hines Valley Road, Lenoir, City, was charged with possession of legend drug (trazadone), possession of a legend drug (quetiapine fumarate) and resisting arrest.
