A Passion for Christ

Many days I leave my home praying that God will present an opportunity for me to share the gospel of Jesus and His love for each of us to some particular person, only to realize by the afternoon that God did send that person into my path and my testimony was one of silence. I sometimes realize that instead of sharing with that person how great God is and how He has changed and blessed my life, I made

As a believer in Christ, I realize beyond measure that I have a duty, an obligation, to use each day that I am given to be an example to others. Some days I feel that I do ok, that I allow the Lord to use me in some way to plant seeds of hope in the minds of those with whom I come in contact; but many days I fail God miserably.

The Good News

I feel compelled this morning to confess to you that I am not the Christian that God is leading me to be. I fail Him, I fail those around me and I often fail myself. I pray EVERY-DAY that God will send a buyer for my home and open doors for Blondie and I to preach the gospel to an unreached group of people somewhere across the globe, yet many times I don't share the love of Jesus with my own friends. I wonder if any of you are like me. I wonder if there are others who desire to do more for Christ, but fall short when it's time to actually do it. I wonder if there are others who have a genuine relationship with Christ, but lack a driving passion to follow His command for each of us to share with others. My wife follows the journeys of a missionary who currently serves with a Christian group called Overland Missions. His name is J.D. and he leads missionary expeditions all over the world. This past week J.D. posted a statement on Facebook that reminded Blondie and me what it looks like to have a passion for Jesus. I want

ProNova Solutions to Locate Headquarters, Research Facility in Blount County

Medical Sciences Company to Invest $50 Million, Create 525 New Jobs

Tennessee Governor Bill Haslam and Economic and Community Development Commissioner Bill Hagerty along with ProNova Solutions officials announced the medical sciences company will locate a headquarters facility and research and commercialization laboratory in Alcoa, Tenn.

The announcement represents an investment of $50 million and the creation of 525 new positions in Blount County.

ProNova, in coordination with Provision Health Alliance, is developing next-generation proton therapy technology to treat cancer. Proton therapy benefits include a significant decrease in tissue damage, decrease in debilitating side effects and a decrease in secondary cancers from unnecessary radiation exposure, which brings the potential for patient cost savings by decreasing these complications.

"This is an important milestone for ProNova Solutions that signifies not only the next step in the advancement of proton technology, but it's also an important investment in the Blount County community," said Dr. Terry Douglass, Chairman of ProNova Solutions. "With the Provision Center for Proton Therapy located in Knoxville and now the ProNova site in Alcoa, this is truly a regional effort and one we hope will benefit not only the citizens of East Tennessee, but that it will bring the next innovation in cancer treatment to patients and physicians across the globe."

Becoming the anchor tenant at the Pellissippi Place technology research and development park, ProNova will construct two facilities on 26 acres in phases over the next few years. The first phase consists of a 30,000 square foot two-story office and research building with a 40,000 square foot assembly and test area initially supporting 35 employees and growing to 110 by 2015. Phase two adds a 120,000 square foot two-story building with a projected staff of 110 in 2015 and expanding to a cumulative total of 525 by 2018.

A total of nearly 200,000 square feet will be used upon completion of both phases, including approximately 130,000 in office space and 60,000 of commercialization and research space.

ProNova's proton therapy system is called the ProNovaSC360 and the first systems will ship in 2015. While it's a lower-cost, smaller, lighter and more energy efficient proton therapy solution, the SC360 will not sacrifice any clinical capabilities but will add even more benefits not available in current-generation systems. Features include 3D anatomical and functional imaging at the isocenter, 360 degree treatment of the patient and an efficient workflow that mimics traditional radiation therapy.

Provision broke ground in April 2012 on a $119 million proton therapy cancer center at Dowell Springs Business Park off Middlebrook Pike in Knoxville. The 90,000 square-foot facility is expected to open in early 2014 and be able to treat 1,000 patients per year.

Additionally, the center will be integrated into the research program at the University of Tennessee to train future medical professionals.

*About ProNova Solutions, LLC: ProNova Solutions is aggressively developing the next generation of cancer therapy technology in a highly integrated proton therapy medical system. The fusion of state-of-the-art imaging, multi-axis precision positioning, superconducting magnet technology and unprecedented closed-loop treatment verification using PET gives ProNova customers an economic and clinical advantage. What a statement! I pray that my life will someday reflect those words, Jesus gave His life that you and I might escape eternal torment and live with Him forever when this short life is complete. For those of us who have accepted Him, we have been called to tell others. If we are not doing so, we are either willfully sinning against the commandments of the Almighty God of this universe..... or..... we were never saved in the first place.

What are you doing to share Jesus with those around you? Is there a passion for Christ that drives your every decision, every purchase, every conversation and every relationship? I am praying for that same passion that drives J.D. I realize that becoming a Christian is not just a quick prayer, it is a life changing decision that comes with responsibilities beyond the prayer and rewards beyond our imagination. I am guilty of being a lazy, pride filled, self-centered follower of Christ but I am asking for God's forgiveness and a passion to make a difference. How bout you?

If you have never been introduced to Jesus, if you have never really had someone to sit down with you and talk about what it means to accept Jesus and how important this decision is to every human on the earth, then why don't you holler at me? It will cost you nothing but a little time to hear the gospel of Jesus and then you can
