A Team Effort

When my son Tanner was just a little runt, about five or six years old, I used to take him up on Citico Creek on Saturday mornings to go trout fishing. He would wear his camouflage clothing and his fishing vest with a dip net strapped to the back of it like any prepared Citico angler that needed to look like a fisherman. While he looked more prepared than Brad Pitt fly fishing in "A River Runs Through It", Tanner had a hard time keeping his hook from getting hung up on the rocks in the creek bottom. After having to break his line and tie numerous hooks in the first hour of daylight, I decided to initiate a strategy that would benefit both of us. I called my son over to where I was fishing and

The Good Shepherd Center of Monroe County provides food, clothing, personal care products and baby items to over 2,000 Monroe County residents each month who are experiencing sudden or unexpected hardship caused by insufficient funds.

The Good Shepherd Center is able to operate for the most part because of donations of cash, food items, clothing, personal care and baby items from local churches, organizations, markets and individuals.

The day to day operations of the Center are carried out by local individual volunteers who donate their time and efforts to the Center by working the office, interviewing clients, unloading trucks, organizing and stocking the storage shelves, packing the boxes of items for distribution to the clients, sorting and organizing the donated clothing, and traveling to the different locations to pick up and deliver items to the Center.

To get involved in some meaningful volunteer work or make a donation, stop by the Center Monday through Thursday, 9:00 AM to 12:30 PM and talk to Tina.

The Center is located approximately one mile South of the Route 68/411 crossing in Madisonville.

described how we were going to begin fishing in a new style called "Team Effort". I would cast the line, hook a trout and then hand him the rod and he would land the fish. Before long we both had our limit of fish and left for home with our sanity intact. Eventually, he grew enough to begin catching fish for himself and now can fish as good, if not better, than his old man! I share these treasured memories and this fishing strategy with you today because I believe it contains the same value when applied to Christianity. I am convinced that young Christians, and even older Christians who have not been exposed to effective discipleship training, can easily get hung up in the rocks of life and the snags of the enemy. Without using "A Team Effort" to teach and encourage them, these folks will have difficulty becoming great fishers of men and may eventually quit fishing altogether.

We have been skimming the highlights of the Book of James for several weeks now and this will be the last message in this series. Although it's the last one, it is possibly the most important lesson throughout the whole book. Here it is from James, the half-brother of Jesus Christ:

James 5:16-20 (NKJV) (16) Confess your trespasses to one another, and pray for one another, that you may be healed. The effective fervent prayer of a righteous man avails much. (17) Elijah was a man with a nature like ours, and he prayed earnestly that it would not rain; and it did not rain on the land for three years and six months. (18) And he prayed again, and the heaven gave rain, and the earth produced its fruit. (19) Brethren, if anyone among you wanders from the truth, and someone turns him back, (20) let him know that he who turns a sinner from the error of his way will save a soul from death and cover a multitude of sins.

For many years I was a Christian that chose to surround myself with non-Christian or non-Christian acting friends. I didn't attend church regularly, I didn't spend time with the Lord in His word or in prayer and I didn't share my struggles or temptations with folks who would pray with and for me. As a result, my spiritual life was in shambles, my heart was very cold and my attitude was pitiful at best. I couldn't achieve happiness in my own life and took out my frustration on anyone and everyone who crossed me. Do you know anyone like this? Are you in this condition now?

If so, I am happy to announce that it doesn't have to be that way any longer. The moment I fell to my knees and cried out to the Lord for mercy, forgiveness and peace, He began to teach me the effectiveness of true prayer. Jesus did have mercy on me and He did forgive me. I found the peace that I had sought for so long in all the wrong places. God placed strong Christian men in my life and showed me that as Christians we have to continuously pray for one another, share our struggles with one another and encourage one another like family.

Jesus showed me a not so new strategy called "A Team Effort" that benefits Him, benefits me and hopefully today will benefit you as well. To achieve happiness on earth and to help increase the number of those who spend eternity with Christ, we must all work together. I can pray for you, you can pray for me, we can both pray for the lost guy that works with all of us and Jesus will be glorified through our efforts and will bless our lives beyond measure!

Angie and I are thankful that God answers prayers and restores lives. We are excited about what He has in store for us in the coming months and pray that God will use the change He has made in our lives to encourage others to trust in His power to heal. We invite you to visit our new website at www.tgnmissions.com or send me an email to jeff@tgnmissions.com if you would like to share your story with us.

Thanks for reading today and may God bless your family as He has ours.
