Verse of the Day

What shall we conclude then? Are we any better? Not at all! We have already made the charge that Jews and Gentiles alike are all under sin. As it is written: "There is no one righteous, not even one ..." — Romans 3:9-10

DUI

Rebekah Elinor Rogers, 22, of Jacobs Crossing Drive, Crossville, was charged with driving under the influence.

Officer Akins LPD, observed a vehicle coming towards his direction on Hwy

72 with there bright lights on and never deemed them. Officer got behind the vehicle and followed it about a mile and a half. On his observation, he witnessed the vehicle doing fifteen MPH under the posted speed limit, which is a forty five MPH zone. Officer witnessed the vehicle swerving from the yellow line to the white line, several times. Officer conducted a vehicle stop, and identified the driver as Ms. Rebekah Rogers. After making contact, Officer noticed that Ms. Rogers had blood shot watery eyes and a strong odor of an alcoholic beverage arising from her person. Officer advised her the reason of the stop and asked her if she had been drinking. Ms. Rogers advised, that she drunk a couple glasses of wine, approximately three glasses, prior to stopping her. Officer asked Ms. Rog-audit addressed by local officials.

For the third year in a row, at least two funds required material audit adjustments in order to correct year-end financial statements. Account balances in the General and General Debt Service funds required adjustments totaling $525,505 and $175,749, respectively. These adjustments are a strong indicator of a county's failure to maintain its accounting records.

Auditors also found multiple other problems that included county purchasing procedures, expenditures exceeding appropriations, cash overdrafts, and unreconciled accounts.

Comptroller auditors have included recommendations to correct all 14 of the findings noted in the audit report.

"Fayette County leaders should work closely with its Audit Committee to address these ongoing issues," Comptroller Justin P. Wilson said. "It concerns me when I see the number of audit findings growing from one year to the next. It's also troublesome when issues have gone uncorrected over several years."

Haslam Appoints Smith Circuit Court Judge for 30th District

Replacement for the late Judge D'Army Bailey

Tennessee Gov. Bill

Haslam today appointed Valerie L. Smith as circuit court judge for the 30th Judicial District, which serves Shelby County.

Smith's appointment fills the vacancy created last year by the death of Judge D'Army Bailey.

Smith, 40, has been an attorney at Nahon, Saharovich & Trotz in Memphis since 2006, where she has managed hundreds of cases and practiced extensively in court in Shelby County as well as circuit courts throughout the state, the Tennessee Claims Commission, bankruptcy court and federal court.

She served as assistant district attorney general in Shelby County from 2000-2006, where she worked on numerous jury and bench trials, managed various aspects of criminal prosecution and worked on special assignments including narcotics prosecution and the anti-gang unit. Smith was a clerk for Shelby County Circuit Court Judge James F. Russell from 1999-2000.

"We're fortunate to have someone with Valerie Smith's experience to bring to the bench in the 30th District," Haslam said. "Her service in the Shelby County District Attorney General's office and her years of work in private practice have prepared her to serve the people of the 30th Judicial District well."

"I am deeply humbled and thank Governor Haslam for this appointment," Smith said. "I am honored and grateful for this opportunity to serve the citizens of Shelby
