The Good News

by: Rev. Dr. Julius McCarter

Reading: Colossians 3:1-11

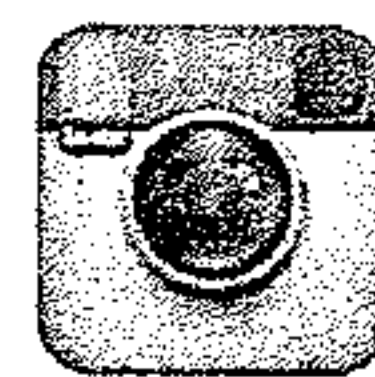

A college professor, pastor, a friend died not long ago. He loved the people he served and was most content in helping them understand what a relationship with God was all about. Toward the end of his struggle with cancer we were talking about his favorite stories from the Bible. His immediate answer was Luke's story of the loving father and the two wayward sons. His reason was simple: The image of being separated from the one

TATE & LYLE SHUCKS LOUDON COUNTY

Tate and Lyle Ingredients is a corn processing company with one of four North American plants located in Loudon County, originally built by A. E. Staley Company. The corn refining industry produces hundreds of products and byproducts, such as high fructose corn syrup (HFCS), corn syrup, starches, animal feed, oil and alcohol. Tate and Lyle Ingredients appealed the valuation of their tangible personal property located at their Loudon County corn wet milling plant. Tate & Lyle contended that the fair market value of their assets were worth $72,700,000 for 2011 and $84,200,000 for tax year 2012. Loudon County As-false low Road in reference to a Robbery. Upon arrival contact was made with the defendants. The defendants Carly Cusick and Jacob Moretz stated that at approximately 15-20 minutes prior to Officer arrival two unidentified males enter the residence they were staying in and took several items to include money, electronics, and medication. Further investigation revealed several inconsistencies in the stories given by the defendants. A search of the exterior of the residence revealed a set of footprints in the dew on the grass leading to the rear of the residence. These tracks lead in the opposite direction of the description given by the defendants. Upon looking into an opening leading under the residence several of the items reported stolen were located and recovered. At that point Miranda Rights were read to the defendants prior to questioning. Both defendants, at this point, admitted to falsifying the Robbery in an attempt to hide the theft that they had committed. Both defendants knowingly initiated a report and statements to law enforcement concerning false ctd. pg. 3 who loves you unconditionally is the most vivid description of hell.

Paul offers what seems to be a laundry list of inappropriate moral behaviors. However, there is a key word that helps us understand what Paul is trying to teach. He talks about greed as idolatry. Anything that stands in the way of our being in relationship to God or the neighbor amounts to separation. I now think about my own actions and possessions and wonder which ones of these are creating distance from those who love me.

When Kendra and I were married, we chose portions of Colossians 3 to be part of our wedding. That's because Colossians 3 holds out a beautiful image for what it means to live as a follower of Jesus Christ, and how we relate to those around us.

Prayer: God of love, help us give up those habitual actions that distance us from you or others. Help us see neither Jew nor Greek, or any other label or class designation that clouds our sight, or leads us to believe that we are above anyone else. Amen.

 sessor reports that after an independent audit conducted by Tax Management and Associates the Tate & Lyle self-reported assets should be valued at $188,455,161.00 for tax year 2011 and $172,558,214 for tax year 2012.

Tate and Lyle Ingredients failed to timely file for pollution control equipment in 2011, 2012 and 2013 and failed to timely file for non-standard valuation in 2011, 2012, 2013 and 2014. Tate and Lyle's lack of action caused the Assessor to follow the required state law denying pollution control certification on the specific equipment.

The judge allowed Tate and Lyle to argue non-standard valuation to offset a portion of their taxes. The judge's decision will cause Loudon County to refund $143,415.00 as well as Loudon City will be required to refund $84,996.00 back to Tate and Lyle for years 2011 and 2012.

There is a 30 day window to appeal the decision set by the judge to the Assessment Appeals Commission. If there are no appeals filed, the decision can cause a total loss of revenue for Loudon County of $1,419,418.00 and Loudon City of $892,277.00 for tax years 2011 through 2016.

Nearly half of the Loudon County tax rate is for school funding; in addition to 17% for educational debt service. There is a potential loss in funding for Loudon County and Lenoir City schools of $710,000.00. As well as a potential loss to the Educational Debt Service Fund of $244,372.00. The educational debt service pays for projects such as the Greenback School, Fort Loudoun Middle School and Philadelphia Cafeteria Projects.

Monday, August 1, 2016 Mike Campbell, Loudon County Assessor will be presenting to The Loudon County Commission regarding the current status of the appeal decision.

$50K Banking Mistake for the 911 Board

Kendra McCarter

The Loudon County 911 board of directors is trying to retrieve $50,000 after its certificate of deposit at the BB&T Tellico Village Branch was zeroed out and sent to the state due to supposed inactivity. Following Tennessee State law, when an account is deemed "inactive" (no action on the account for a period of five years), the funds go into escheat. While in escheat, the bank is required to make multiple telephone and letter attempts to contact the account owner(s).

In this case, when the account became inactive over that period, the BB&T Branch claims to have followed state law. When the attempts saw no contact, the bank turned over the funds in the account to the Tennessee Department of Treasury.

The E911 Board has applied to the Department of Treasury for a return of the funds. But given the backlog of applications, it may be weeks – if not months – before those funds are returned to Loudon County officials.

Neither Sheriff Guider nor any of the other board officials were aware of the transfer until after it had occurred.

The funds were originally placed in a certificate of deposit at the Tellico Branch in order to be available for equipment upgrades or repairs in a time of need.

No decision has been made of where the funds will be located upon return to Loudon.
