Alan Botticelli, 24, 8th Street Cleveland, was charged with Theft of Property, and Criminal Trespass.

Daniel Stewart, 26, Dixie Drive Cleveland, was charged with Theft of Property x2, Criminal Trespass, and Simple Possession.

Officer Jordan Samuels LCPD, was dispatched to Walmart on a shoplifter call. Upon arrival he came in contact with Loss Prevention, who stated a white male wearing a gray & black shirt left the store on foot. Officer made contact with the male identified as Daniel Stewart. Stewart was taken to the Walmart Office so he could be identified by loss prevention. A search was conducted on Stewart and located was a clear crystal like substance, tested positive for methamphetamine. Loss prevention personnel stated Stewart took the unpaid merchandise to a Honda located in the parking lot. Lt. David Flynn located the vehicle with the unpaid merchandise inside, a TN ID belonging to a Alan Botticelli. Lt Flynn ran the vehicle's VIN and it came back stolen. Officer review surveillance tapes and noticed that Stewart was with another male wearing a blue and gray jacket and brown jeans. Officer located the male identified as Alan Botticelli pushing a cart full of merchandise through the parking lot. A search of Botticelli revealed stolen merchandise and a key with a tag 2015 Honda. Both were transported to Loudon Jail.

of the company's long-running scheme to sell thousands of diesel vehicles in the U.S. by using a defeat device to cheat on mandated emissions tests. In addition, the company has agreed to pay $1.5 billion in civil penalties to resolve a variety of environmental, customs, and financial claims.

The announcement was made today in Washington, D.C. at a press conference with U.S. Attorney General Loretta Lynch, FBI Deputy Director Andrew McCabe, Detroit FBI Special Agent in Charge David Gelios, and a number of other federal government officials. The 16-month criminal investigation into Volkswagen was conducted by the FBI and the Environmental Protection Agency's Criminal Investigation Division. Along with the actions taken against the company, a federal grand jury in the Eastern District of Michigan returned an indictment today charging six VW executives and employees for their roles in the nearly 10-year conspiracy.

The investigation revealed that VW falsely advertised that its vehicles complied with federal anti-pollution measures when, according to Attorney General Lynch, "hundreds of thousands of cars that VW sold in the United States were pumping illegal levels of nitrogen oxides into the atmosphere—up to 40 times more than amounts permitted." Turns out that the vehicles were equipped with cheating software that circumvented the U.S. testing process.

Said Deputy Director McCabe, "Consumers expect that companies tell the truth about their products. If environmentally conscious buyers are told they are purchasing green cars, then they should be getting, in fact, green cars—not cars that spew out pollution." Preliminary Crime Stats for 2016 Released

Report Covers January through June Crime in the U.S. 2016 Preliminary

Today, the FBI released its Preliminary Semianual Uniform Crime Report, which covers January through June 2016 and which shows an increase in the number of violent crimes and a decrease in the number of property crimes when compared to figures from the same time period in 2015. The data came from 13,366 law enforcement agencies across the nation.

According to the report, violent crime in the U.S. showed an overall increase of 5.3 percent. Each of the offenses in the violent crime category—murder and nonnegligent manslaughter, rape, aggravated assault, and robbery—experienced increases: aggravated assaults were up 6.5 percent; murders increased 5.2 percent; rapes (legacy definition) were up 4.4 percent and rapes (revised definition) increased 3.5 percent; and robberies were up 3.2 percent. And while property crime as a whole was down 0.6 percent (burglaries decreased 3.4 percent

TGN quickly interpreted sin as our personal failings or individual faults. But the Gospel of Matthew is not only referring to personal sin and the mending of a relationship between Jesus and "me". Matthew writes about saving the people, the community. Sin is the breakdown of community. It is living in isolation, individually or as a self-sufficient group. God-with-us calls us out of our isolation into the beauty of a vast and splendid universal communion. May our Christmas hope always throw us into the beautiful messiness of humanity, of an infant born on the road, in a crowded town, in the outer rooms with a family's livestock, in the family feeding trough.

Prayer: O Emmanuel, our king and law-giver, the hope of all peoples and their Savior: Come and save us, O Lord our God. Amen.

Edward Keyt, 52, Fitch Road Ten Mile, was charged with Evading Arrest x2, Resisting Arrest, and Driving on Revoked/Suspended License.

Corporal Rondel M. Branam LCSO, was advised by Loudon County Dispatch that Monroe County Sheriff's Office was in pursuit of a red GMC pick up truck driven by Edward Neal Keyt on Highway 11 in Philadelphia, TN. Monroe County advised that the subject was wanted on felony warrants stemming from Drug and Firearms offenses. Deputy did join in the pursuit with Monroe County Sheriff's Office on Highway 11 in Loudon, TN. Sheriff Tim Guider did attempt to stop the vehicle, with his emergency equipment activated, at the intersection of Highway 11 and Highway 72 as the vehicle turned right on to Highway 72. Mr. Keyt did not stop and did flee in his vehicle down Highway 72 toward Steekee Road. Contact was lost with the vehicle and Mr. Keyt near Highway 72 and Vonore Road due to the speeds that Mr. Keyt was traveling. Mr. Keyt's vehicle was located shortly after at 1450 Clear Branch Road South and Mr. Keyt had already fled the vehicle on foot. A perimeter was set and Loudon County Sheriff's Office K9 Officers responded to the scene. Corporal Chris Hutchens and his K9 partner Dante did track Mr. Keyt to a wooded area near Highway 72 and Clear Branch Road South. Mr. Keyt was located and apprehended by K9 Dante. Mr. Keyt was taken into custody by Deputy Chris Jenkins. Priority EMS was called and did transport Mr. Keyt to Fort Loudon Medical Center for treatment. A check of Mr. Keyt's drivers license through dispatch revealed that his license is currently Suspended for Failure to Answer or Pay out of Monroe County, TN. This did occur in Loudon County, TN. The red GMC pick up was towed by James Body Shop. Mr. Keyt does have active warrants out of Monroe County for Violation of Probation out of Monroe County Criminal Court, and Failure to Appear on Possession of Methamphetamine for Resale.
