Attorney General Jeff Sessions announces reinvigoration of project safe neighborhoods and other actions to reduce rising tide of violent crime

On October 5, 2017, Attorney General Jeff Sessions announced several Department of Justice (Department) actions to reduce the rising tide of violent crime in America. Foremost of those actions is the reinvigoration of "Project Safe Neighborhoods," a program that has been historically successful in bringing together all levels of law enforcement to reduce violent crime and make our neighborhoods safer for everyone.

In announcing this recommitment to Project Safe Neighborhoods, the Attorney General issued a memo directing U.S. Attorneys to implement an enhanced violent crime reduction program that incorporates the lessons learned since Project Safe Neighborhoods launched in 2001.

Christina Burkhart, 42, Mealer Road Lenoir City, was charged with Public Intoxication, and Resisting Arrest.

Deputy JC Schultz LCSO, answered a suspicious intoxicated subject call at Mealer Rd and Hwy 70. Upon arrival Deputy observed a white female sitting in the intersection of Mealer Rd and Hwy 70. The female had a strong odor of alcoholic beverage coming from her person. She did not want to identify herself to this Deputy but later was identified as Ms. Christina Renee Burkhart. Ms. Burkhart was not cooperative. She stated that she was intoxicated and was ready to go get her mat in the jail. Ms. Burkhart then stated that when she consumed alcohol and was intoxicated she became sexually aroused and wanted to know if this Deputy "wanted to play" because she was "ready to play hard!". This deputy placed her under arrest for public intoxication and Ms. Burkhart refused to cooperate and would not place her hands behind her back. This deputy repeatedly asked Ms. Burkhart to comply with his commands but she refused. She was cuffed and walked to this Deputy's patrol unit where she became stiff and refused to get in the back of his patrol car. This Deputy assisted Ms. Burkhart to get into the cruiser. While she was in transport to the Loudon County Jail (by this Deputy) she was loud and disruptive and refused to comply with commands. Jail staff removed her from the cruiser.

Upon entering the jail she became combative and the jail staff could not book her, or dress her out. She repeatedly stated she was ready to "go" and wanted to "play hard". Jail staff placed her in lockdown due to her combative behavior. This did occur in Loudon County, TN.

In a statement on the program, the Attorney General said:

"According to the FBI, the violent crime rate has risen by nearly seven percent over the past two years, and the homicide rate has risen by more than 20 percent. We cannot be complacent or hope that this is just an anomaly; we have a duty to take action.

"Fortunately, we have a President who understands that and has directed his administration to reduce crime. The Department of Justice today announces the foundation of our plan to reduce crime: prioritizing Project Safe Neighborhoods, a program that has been proven to work.

"Let me be clear – Project Safe Neighborhoods is not just one policy idea among many. This is the centerpiece of our crime reduction strategy.

"Taking what we have learned since the program began in 2001, we have updated it and enhanced it, emphasizing the role of our U.S. Attorneys, the promise of new technologies, and above all, partnership with local communities. With these changes, I believe that this program will be more effective than ever and help us fulfill our mission to make America safer."

Nancy Stallard Harr, U.S. Attorney for the Eastern District of Tennessee said, "Since the Department announced Project Safe Neighborhoods in May 2001, the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Eastern District of Tennessee has actively participated in this gun violence reduction program by partnering with local, state and federal law enforcement across the district to help remove these violent offenders from our communities. In addition to our many successful prosecutions associated with this program, we have also coordinated and provided training to our state and local partners on federal gun laws and gang violence. The entire district has seen the benefits of these efforts through a reduction in violent crime, thus making it a safer place for our law-abiding citizens to live and raise their families. Although, as referenced by the Attorney General, the national program waned in recent years, resulting in an overall rise in violent crime across the country, the Eastern District of Tennessee sustained its vigorous efforts to prosecute these violent offenders. With our staff of experienced prosecutors, we intend to continue and expand our efforts even further under these updated, enhanced and emphasized efforts announced today by the Attorney General."

The Attorney General also announced the following Department initiatives to help reduce violent crime:

-Additional Assistant U.S. Attorney Positions to Focus on Violent Crime – The Department is allocating 40 prosecutors to approximately 20 U.S. Attorney's Offices to focus on violent crime reduction.

-More Cops on the Streets (COPS Hiring Grants) – As part of our continuing commitment to crime prevention efforts, increased community policing, and the preservation of vital law enforcement jobs, the Department will be awarding approximately $98 million in FY 2017 COPS Hiring Grants to state, local, and tribal law enforcement agencies.

-Organized Crime and Drug Enforcement Task Force's (OCDETF) National Gang Strategic Initiative –The National Gang Strategic Initiative promotes creative enforcement strategies and best practices that will assist in developing investigations of violent criminal groups and gangs into enterprise-level OCDETF prosecutions. Under this initiative, OCDETF provides "seed money" to locally-focused gang investigations, giving state, local, and tribal investigators and prosecutors the resources and tools needed to identify connections between lower-level gangs and national-level drug trafficking organizations.

-Critical Training and Technical Assistance to State and Local Partners

-The Department has a vast array of training and technical assistance resources available to state, local and tribal law enforcement, victims groups, and others. To ensure that agencies in need of assistance are able to find the training and materials they need, Office of Justice Programs (OJP) will make see Sessions ctd. pg. 7
