Horoscopes

with the changes. Traditional values and ideas could seem especially attractive to you today, so your resistance could be greater than normal. Yet you know you can't stay the same way forever. Give yourself a break today. Tomorrow you'll be back in the groove and on your way to transforming.

Taurus 4/20-5/20

Business success may have come your way, Taurus, but today you could find yourself feeling a little sad and wondering why, since there's no real reason to feel this way. What's going on is probably, first of all, a letdown, since your brain is no longer churning out the endorphins. Second, you may be wondering where you go from here. Only you can decide that. Set a new goal and move on.

Gemini 5/21-6/20

Today you could feel torn between the desire to get a little exercise and a powerful inclination to curl up in your favorite chair and catch up on some reading, Gemini. There isn't any reason why you can't do both. Go out for a brisk walk and then reach for a favorite book when you return. The key isn't giving up on one, but attaining a balance between the two.

Cancer 6/21-7/22

Do you have the uncomfortable feeling that you've forgotten something but you have no idea what it is, Cancer? Are you haunted by the memory of a seemingly insignificant past event, but can't figure out why? It isn't a good idea to obsess over either. You'll remember whatever it is eventually. You'll soon realize the significance of the memory. Your subconscious is trying to tell you something. You can't rush it, so relax!

Leo 7/23-8/22

If you've been thinking about starting a new creative project, Leo, don't try to do it today. Friends and family could vie for your attention and distract you. Other responsibilities could interfere with your desire to get going on it now. Don't hesitate to try to come up with ideas, but you might have to wait until tomorrow to start the work. Tomorrow you should be raring to go. Be patient!

Virgo 8/23-9/22

Business might be going very well for you, Virgo, but intense changes on the job could have you feeling stressed. Delays in starting new projects could prove frustrating. Don't fall into the trap of thinking that this is going to be a trend. All should be brought back into focus tomorrow. Go to the gym tonight and work off some frustration. You'll be fresh in the morning. Hang in there!

Libra 9/23-10/22

Have you been planning a vacation to a distant place, Libra? Unexpected, discouraging glitches could interfere with your plans, which could have you thinking that you'll just cancel the trip. You might be tempted to pick up the phone and do it. Take no action today. The entire situation should be straightened out by tomorrow, and you'll look forward to your trip again. Stay focused and don't do anything rash.

Scorpio 10/23-11/21

Money matters could have you descending into a state of pure gloom, Scorpio. On the surface it might seem like you'll never be able to sort through all the paperwork, but you will. Don't give up. Stay focused on the task and take one step at a time. Before you know it, your efficiency and practicality should have it sorted out and behind you. Cheer up, and plan a great evening!

Sagittarius

11/22-12/21

Is your sweetheart out of town, Sagittarius? If so, you're probably feeling a bit lonely and insecure. You need to ignore those fantasies of your beloved out on the town having a great time with lots of glamorous people. Your friend is most likely as bored as you are, either transacting business or fulfilling family obligations. Relax, find something to do, and the time will pass before you know it.

Capricorn 12/22-01/19

You probably won't feel like working today, Capricorn. You may not be tired, but you're probably bored, restless, and unable to focus. It's best to concentrate on routines or mundane chores you can do automatically on days like this. Put on your headphones. Take a long, leisurely lunch or perhaps brunch with friends. It's important to have some fun. Think of it as an exercise to balance your usually serious self!

Aquarius 1/20-2/18

Love matters could appear to be moving far more slowly than you'd like, Aquarius. Both you and your romantic interest may be overloaded with responsibilities now and unable to see each other much. It's frustrating, but you'll get through it. In the meantime, don't let your insecurities get the better of you. Just because your friend is busy doesn't mean that your relationship is on the rocks. Be patient!

Pisces 2/19-3/20

Today's planetary configuration will give you a strong urge to be out and about, Pisces, but responsibilities could keep you at home or the office. Perhaps you're waiting for a delivery or an important phone call or visitor. This could be boring and rather tedious for you today. Find something to do that engrosses you, even if it's only reading or catching up on paperwork. There's no point in just twiddling your thumbs!

CDC

More than a quarter (29%) reported a parent or other adult in their home lost a job.

Before the pandemic, mental health was getting worse among high school students, according to prior CDC data.pdf icon

"These data echo a cry for help," said CDC Acting Principal Deputy Director Debra Houry, M.D., M.P.H. "The COVID-19 pandemic has created traumatic stressors that have the potential to further erode students' mental wellbeing. Our research shows that surrounding youth with the proper support can reverse these trends and help our youth now and in the future."

Lesbian, gay, and bisexual youth and female youth reported greater levels of poor mental health; emotional abuse by a parent or caregiver; and having attempted suicide than their counterparts.

In addition, over a third (36%) of students said they experienced racism before or during the COVID-19 pandemic. The highest levels were reported among Asian students (64%) and Black students and students of multiple races (both 55%). The survey cannot determine the extent to which events during the pandemic contributed to reported racism. However, experiences of racism among youth have been linked to poor mental health, academic performance, and lifelong health risk behaviors.

School connectedness provided critical protection for students during COVID-19

Findings also highlight that a sense of being cared for, supported, and belonging at school — called "school connectedness" — had an important effect on students during a time of severe disruption. Youth who felt connected to adults and peers at school were significantly less likely than those who did not to report persistent feelings of sadness or hopelessness (35% vs. 53%); that they seriously considered attempting suicide (14% vs. 26%); or attempted suicide (6% vs. 12%). However, fewer than half (47%) of youth reported feeling close to people at school during the pandemic.

"School connectedness is a key to addressing youth adversities at all times — especially during times of severe disruptions," said Kathleen A. Ethier, PhD, Director of CDC's Division of Adolescent and School Health. "Students need our support now more than ever, whether by making sure that their schools are inclusive and safe or by providing opportunities to engage in their communities and be mentored by supportive adults."

We all have a role to play to help youth recover from challenges during COVID-19

Youth with poor mental health may struggle with school and grades, decision making, and their health. Mental health problems in youth are also often associated with other health and behavioral risks such as increased risk of drug use, experiencing violence, and higher risk sexual behaviors.

Schools are crucial partners in supporting the health and wellbeing of students. In addition to education, they provide opportunities for academic, social, mental health, and physical health services that can help protect against negative outcomes. Schools are facing unprecedented disruptions during the pandemic, however, and cannot address these complex challenges alone.

"In the face of adversity, support from schools, families, and communities protects adolescents from potentially devastating consequences," said Jonathan Mermin, M.D., director of the National Center for HIV/AIDS, Viral Hepatitis, STD, and TB Prevention, CDC's lead Center for monitoring and addressing school-based health. "These data tell us what works. So, what will it take for our schools and communities to help youth withstand the challenges of the COVID-19 pandemic and beyond?"

These data, released as an MMWR Surveillance Supplement, come from the Adolescent Behaviors and Experiences Survey (ABES), CDC's first nationally representative survey of public- and private-school high school students to assess the well-being of U.S. youth during the COVID-19 pandemic. Funded through the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act, CDC fielded the survey during January – June 2021.

Kenneth Colbaugh, 38, Sneed Road Decatur, was charged with, Child Abuse or Neglect/Endangerment, Man/Sell/Del/Resale Sch. IV & I, Mfg/Del/Sale or Poss. Of Meth, and DUI.

Officer Eldridge LCPD, was dispatched to the Bimbos on Hwy 321 in relation to a suspicious vehicle. The complainant stated that she observed a Silver Honda in the parking lot containing a male and small child and that the male was passed out behind the wheel and had been there for more than 20 minutes.

Upon arrival, Officers noticed the vehicle attempt to reverse out of a parking spot and initiated a traffic stop. Officers then made contact with the male (Kenneth Colbaugh) who stated that him and his 5 year old daughter just left a Daddy/Daughter dance from McMinn Co High School and was on their way to Knoxville to eat. Officers noticed Colbaugh to be speaking in a slow, slurred speech and also to have bloodshot and watery eyes. Officers asked Colbaugh to step out of his vehicle and was very unsteady and off balance when doing so. Officers asked Colbaugh if he had been drinking or had taken anything and he stated "only tylenol" because he had a headache. Officers noticed Colbaugh continue to put his hand in his pocket after being asked not to and was asked to empty his pockets and turn them out revealing a cut straw containing a white powdery substance on the end of it. Colbaugh was placed into custody and then admitted to officers that he had snorted a Hydrocodone earlier with it. During an inventory search of the vehicle, Officers found a black bag containing the following items: smaller individual baggies containing a white and pink powdery substance, and a bottle of pills. Officers also found $1067 in cash and multiple cellphones believed to be involved with the selling of narcotics. Colbaugh was then transported to the Loudon Co Jail on multiple charges and a family member came and picked up his daughter from the Police Department. Testing of the narcotics revealed Colbaugh to be in possession of 16.16 Grams of Meth, 7.0 Grams of Fentanyl, and 38 Pills of Xanax. The car was seized and transported by Money-makers.

New CDC data illuminate youth mental health threats during the COVID-19 pandemic

CDC's first nationally representative survey of high school students during the pandemic can inform effective programs

New CDC analyses, published today, shine additional light on the mental health of U.S. high school students during the COVID-19 pandemic, including a disproportionate level of threats that some students experienced.

According to the new data, in 2021, more than a third (37%) of high school students reported they experienced poor mental health during the COVID-19 pandemic, and 44% reported they persistently felt sad or hopeless during the past year. The new analyses also describe some of the severe challenges youth encountered during the pandemic:

More than half (55%) reported they experienced emotional abuse by a parent or other adult in the home, including swearing at, insulting, or putting down the student.

11% experienced physical abuse by a parent or other adult in the home, including hitting, beating, kicking, or physically hurting the student.

Verse of the Day

He was pierced for our transgressions, he was crushed for our iniquities; the punishment that brought us peace was upon him, and by his wounds we are healed. We all, like sheep, have gone astray, each of us has turned to his own way; and the Lord has laid on him the iniquity of us all. —Isaiah 53:5-6
