comply with special sex offender conditions during his supervised release.

As part of the plea agreement filed with the court, Henrietta agreed to plead guilty to one count of attempted production of child pornography in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 2251 (a) and (e).

According to court documents, in December 2022, Homeland Security Investigation (HSI)-Knoxville Internet Crimes Against Children (ICAC) task force, was contacted by the New Castle County Police Department in Delaware regarding online production of child pornography of a nine-year-old minor child. The investigation revealed that the solicitation of child pornography of the minor child began when he was nine years of age. The solicitation of the child pornography continued for four years until recently when the child mother found the child pornography in communications between Henrietta and the child.

The investigation revealed that Henrietta and the child began communicating through a game on the PlayStation Network platform. Later, Henrietta moved the conversations with the child to social networking applications where he continued to entice the minor child to engage in unlawful sexual activity for images/videos.

U.S. Attorney Francis M. Hamilton, III of the Eastern District of Tennessee and Special Agent in Charge Rena Saoud of HSI made the announcement.

Assistant United States Attorney Jennifer Kolman represented the United States.

This case was brought as part of Project Safe Childhood (PSC), a nationwide initiative launched in May 2006, by the Department of Justice to combat the growing epidemic of child sexual exploitation and abuse. Led by the United States Attorney's Offices and the Criminal Division's Child Exploitation and Obscenity Section, PSC marshals federal, state, and local resources to locate, apprehend, and prosecute individuals who sexually exploit children, and to identify and rescue victims. For more information about PSC, please visit www.justice.gov/psc.

tions during his supervised release. As part of the plea agreement filed with the court, Gaal agreed to plead guilty to an indictment charging him with one count of interstate travel for the purpose of engaging in illicit sexual conduct, in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 2423(b). Gaal, a registered sex offender from Mississippi, traveled to Chattanooga in December 2023, intending to sexually molest a 10-month-old child. In fact, Gaal had been communicating with a Special Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) who was posing as a person with access to the child. Gaal noted in the on-line discussions with the undercover agent that the sexual abuse would be "a dream come true." He arrived in Chattanooga with gifts for the notional child, including Christmas outfits, a stuffed animal, and a rattle. When Gaal arrived, he was arrested and has remained in custody since his arrest. "The defendant, while already a convicted sex offender, traveled to Tennessee to sexually molest a 10-month-old child," said Francis M. Hamilton III, U. S. Attorney for the Eastern District of Tennessee. "The facts are outrageous and disturbing. We are dedicated to prosecuting offenders like this to the full extent of the law."

"Exploitation of children offenses are heinous and leave an immeasurable impact on victims," said Special Agent in Charge Joseph E. Carrico of the FBI Nashville Field Office. "To protect our children, the FBI will continue to work alongside our law enforcement partners to identify, investigate, and bring sexual predators to justice."

The criminal indictment was the result of an investigation by the FBI and the investigation was led by FBI Special Agent Samuel Moore.

Assistant United States Attorney James T. Brooks and Special Assistant United States Attorney Charlie Minor with the Hamilton County District Attorney's Office, represented the United States.

This case was brought as part of Project Safe Childhood (PSC), a nationwide initiative launched in May 2006, by the Department of Justice to combat the growing epidemic of child sexual exploitation and abuse.
